sett waterfront and wharf would appear as they did at that time. Everyone interested in sailing ships or early Mattapoisett or oil paintings enjoyed Mr. Sylvia's work. Old bibles, pictures and other interesting heir-looms were on exhibit. A Church History folder was given to interested visitors.

MATTAPOISETT LIBRARY DISPLAY

The Mattapoisett Library displayed an extremely interesting exhibit of old photographs and postcards dating back to the 50th anniversary and beyond. A letter from John Quincy Adams to Joseph Meigs, State Senator, about the building of Ned's Point Lighthouse also was interesting reading. Senator Meigs worked to get the bill passed for the building of the lighthouse and it did pass. It was voted in 1832 which was a depression year. Because of this, the actual building had to be held up and so the lighthouse was actually finished in 1838. Joseph Meigs is the great-great grandfather of Alice Loring Meigs, now of Boston, Mass., and her uncle, Larnet Hall, who lived on Marion Road was the first lighthouse keeper.

The old map of the town street layout with the names of the owners of the houses, and a display of the original drawings which were reproduced on Presto Press covers completed the exhibit.

NANCY R. TILDEN BRIDE OF DAVID L. BROWN IN MARION CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

White lilies, delphinium and gladioli decorated the altar of the Marion Congregational Church Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Nancy Ruth Tilden, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Tilden of Pleasant Street, Marion, to Mr. David Lewis Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris P. Brown of Pleasant Street, Marion.

The Rev. George Robinson performed the double ring service at 4 P.M., which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Organist was Mr. William Maxwell with a vocal duet by Mrs. Arthur Cowell and Mrs. Robert Thackeray and a solo by Mrs. Thackeray.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the grand-daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Irving N. Tilden of Mattapoisett and Mrs. Fred D. Costello and the late Mr. Costello of Taunton. She wore a floor length gown of white organza with applique lace around the neck and sleeves and lace panelling on the skirt. Her finger tip veil was held with a headband of white carnations. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and ivy.

Miss Joan A. Tilden, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a green taffeta dress and headband. Her bouquet was pink feathered carnations to match the headband.
